

Corporate Fact Sheet

Location: 1469 North Cuyamaca, El Cajon, California 92020
Phone: 619.562.0135
Email: info@bottlehood.com
Website: www.bottlehood.com
Principals: Leslie Tiano, Steve Cherry
Established: October 2009

Overview

Founded in 2009, BottleHood is the industry leader in repurposing glass beverage containers and wine barrels. The Company produces a broad line of glassware and wooden serving ware for home and commercial use. Our eco-friendly products include a broad range of glassware including shot glasses, juice glasses, tumblers and vases, a complete line of light fixtures, jewelry and candles. Our line of repurposed wine barrel products includes small sushi style serving trays to large banquet size display and serving trays.

The Concept

BottleHood was conceived out of a desire to create local jobs, stimulate the local retail economy and to help our environment. Concerns about our economy and environment led to the idea of repurposing locally obtained bottles. In the process of repurposing the glass beverage containers and wine barrels, and providing neighborhood retailers the opportunity to offer them to the community, we provide our clients with an example of a truly sustainable business and functional piece of art that puts a smile on everyone's face! BottleHood is responsible for keeping tons of glass out of our local landfill and doing our part to keep our local economy alive and thriving. Our success is a reflection of our neighborhood's continuing support of local entrepreneurs, crafts people and BottleHood's social agenda.

Clientele

Our clientele includes a range of the most eco-conscious restaurants, bars and hotels to many of the most respected catalogs, gift stores, museums and galleries in the country. BottleHood's goods can be found online at www.bottlehood.com, our shop on etsy (www.etsy.com/shop/bottlehood), and at the Little Italy and Hillcrest farmers' markets every weekend in San Diego. Check our FaceBook page for a listing of our currently scheduled events. People that love our products include artists, treehuggers, sentimental pack rats, glass lovers and socially-conscious people who want to help out the neighborhood economy and our environment. BottleHood creations are great for home or office and make perfect gifts.